

Three Little Pigs

Once there lived three little pigs. Their mother told them that they should go and build their own houses. She warned them about the big bad wolf.

The first little pig did not want to work very hard. He found some straw and built for himself a straw hut.

The second little pig had worked harder. He found some wood and built for himself a wooden hut.

The third little pig wanted to build a strong house. He built for himself a brick hut.

Along came the big bad wolf to the first house and said "Little pig, little pig let me come in." Little pig said "Not by the hair of my chinny, chin, chin!"

"Then I'll huff, and I'll puff, and blow your house in!" said the angry wolf. The house blew down.

First little pig ran to the second pig's house.

The first little pig was now in the second little pig's house and they closed the doors and windows.

Along came the big bad wolf and said "Little pig, little pig let me come in." The little pigs said "Not by the hair of my chinny, chinny chin!"

"Then I'll huff, and I'll puff, and blow your house in!" said the angry wolf. The house blew down.

The first and the second little pigs ran to the third pig's house.

The first and the second little pigs were now in the third little pig's house and they closed the doors and windows.

Along came the big bad wolf and said "Little pig, little pig let me come in." The little pigs said "Not by the hair of my chinny, chin, chin!"

"Then I'll huff, and I'll puff, and blow your house in!" said the angry wolf. The brick house did not break.

The three little pigs were safe inside the brick house.

The angry wolf climbed up the chimney to enter the house.

The third little pig had put a pot of boiling water under the chimney.

The wolf fell in the hot water and burnt himself. He ran away, never to come back again.
